"...an informed homebuyer is a smart homebuyer"

Kit is a locally owned Idaho company. Unlike our large national competitors we design and build homes only for this area. We offer flexibility and quick decision making their corporate structures lack. We are better than the rest and invite you to see the difference.

Buying a new home is a large financial commitment that will affect your life for years. We want to help you by providing you with the opportunity to make a more informed decision.

Taking a personalized tour of the factory will give you the opportunity to see the materials and processes that make our homes superior to our competitors. You will see features that are unique to our homes and the building process from start to finish. You will meet members of our staff and the workmen who will build your home. You can ask any questions you have about our construction process, features available and service after sale.

We are proud of what we do at Kit. We build quality homes and offer superior features and service. We encourage you to take the tour so you can see the Kit difference. We look forward to seeing you.

Jared Oviatt, General Manager
